DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on December 19, 2001 was filed before the mailing date of the Notice of Allowability on October 27, 2003. The submission is in compliance with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97. Accordingly, the information disclosure statement has been considered by the examiner.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 1-9 and 11-15 are allowed.
3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance.

The prior art of record, taken alone or in combination, fails to teach the construction of a motor-generator apparatus for a vehicle as described on:

independent claim 1, wherein while said engine starting is being performed, said AC-to-DC and DC-to-AC power converter supplies to said armature winding said armature current as a current having a component which forms a magnetic flux in the same direction as that of said field winding magnetic flux;

independent claim 5, wherein designating a maximum allowable temperature for said rotor as T_{max} , a maximum temperature that will be attained by the rotor during electric power generation operation as T_{gmax} , and a thermal capacity of the rotor as Q , a time interval for which current is passed through said field current during an engine starting operation as T , the resistance of said field winding as r , and the field current that is supplied generation of electric power as i , said control circuit is configured to limit said field current during generation of electric power by said synchronous machine to a value such that $(T_{gmax} + (i^2 \times r \times t) / Q)$ is lower than the temperature value T_{max} ;

independent claim 9, wherein said control circuit functions during an engine starting operation effected by said motor-generator apparatus to control said field current and said armature current such as to produce a magnetic saturation condition of a magnetic circuit which passes through said rotor core, and to control the value of a field magnetic force F_f to a higher value than an armature magnetic force F_a , where said field magnetic force F_f is determined as the product of said field current by a number of turns of said field winding and said armature magnetic force F_a is determined as the product of said armature current by a number of turns of said armature winding;

independent claim 11, wherein said control circuit is configured such that a predetermined initial period of an engine starting interval, said control circuit supplies said field current to said field winding with a large value of duty ratio, and of duty ratio until completion of said engine starting interval; and independent claim 13, wherein said rotor-side iron core portion is configured to have a smaller value of magnetic reluctance, in a direction that is at right angles to a direction of said magnetic flux of said current-induced field magnets, than a value of magnetic reluctance in said direction of said flux of the current-induced field magnets.

Dependent claims 2-4, 6-8, 12, and 14-15 are considered allowable by their respective dependence on allowed independent claims 1, 5, 9, 11, and 13.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. See PTO-892.
